Murder suspect caught

Pass Christian man charged in Huffman death at Bayou Phillips

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus
Hancock County Sheriff's investigators, with assistance from the Pass Christian Police Department, on Wednesday night arrested Yildirim E. Ali, 30, of 122 Beachview, Pass Christian, in connection with the murder of Ronnie Eugene Huffman, Sheriff Steve Garber said Thursday morning. Ali was later charged with one count of murder.

Water-sewer trouble deepens

Hancock district bogged down in contract lawsuits

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The problems that Hancock County Water and Sewer District is having with the Phase 1 water project are the latest in a long line of problems for the district. The district is also involved in a lawsuit with Panther Utilities of MS, Inc., the company responsible for the construction of the Bayside North and the Harbor Drive area sewer system. The suit also names Duke Levy and Associates, Security Representative Steve Rodgers, attorneys Lewis M. Langlinais and Charles Burrows, two bonding companies and two insurance agencies, also involved in the project.

Ya-Ya Sisters

Unemployment rate drops

Most counties saw their unemployment rates drop in April as the state's unemployment rate fell by a half-percentage point to the lowest rate of the year, the Mississippi Employment Security Commission (MESC) announced.

Mississippi's rate for April was 6.4 percent down from 6.9 percent in March. The national unadjusted unemployment rate for April was 5.7 percent.

The Mississippi economy received a boost during the month from agricultural workers returning to work after the winter layoff. Some 1,900 jobs were added in the agricultural sector of the economy during April. Overall, agricultural jobs were up by 3,900 from last year.

Agricultural jobs made up 2.6 percent of the state's work force during April. There were 34,500 agricultural jobs in Mississippi out of a civilian labor force of 1,307,400.

Job gains in April were also noted in the furniture and fixtures, metal products, lumber and wood, construction, trade and service sectors of the state's economy.

"April is traditionally a month when the unemployment rate is low," said MESC Executive Director Curt Thompson.

"Weather conditions improve so that outdoor work can be performed and there is an optimism in the spring when workers who were out of the labor force begin looking for employment again."

Lafayette County had the state's lowest rate at 2.4 percent followed by Rankin County with a rate of 3.2 percent and Lamar County with a rate of 3.4 percent.

Issaquena County recorded the highest unemployment rate with a rate of 18.6 percent. Webster County had the second highest rate at 16.5 percent and Holmes County was third highest with a rate of 14.9 percent. Usually the state's unemployment rate goes up in May as student workers enter the job market looking for summer work, Thompson said.

Solid Waste wants household hazardous waste clean-up day

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

The Hancock County Solid Waste Authority received good news during its monthly meeting last week. The Department of Environmental Quality has awarded the authority a $14,500 grant.

The grant will be used to clean up areas in the county and to fund a law enforcement officer, whose duties will include replying to complaints about dumping and issuing tickets for littering.

The authority asked to use the money to hold a much-needed household hazardous waste clean-up day, but the DEQ denied this request.

The authority must now apply for a separate grant in order to have a clean-up day. Since the last household hazardous waste clean-up day was held in 1999, the authority believes DEQ will grant permission for the event. The cost for a clean-up day is around $25,000.

"We are way overdue for a clean-up day," said Lisa Cowand, an authority member and Hancock County Board of Supervisors member.

During the meeting, the authority decided to send a shipment of 1,000 recycling bins to Mississippi Resorssys. Once the bins arrive in about eight weeks, Mississippi Resorssys will then distribute 12 bins each to Waveland City Hall, Bay St. Louis City Hall and Compton Engineering. The remaining bins will be sent to newly constructed homes in Hancock County.

Riding ATVs in streams damages fish nesting

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Most sportsmen wouldn't dream off riding an ATV (4-wheeler) through known turkey nesting areas.

But riding along a stream bottom during spring or summer doesn't raise a second thought with a lot of people.

But it should, according to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

"Clear, shallow, sand-and-gravel-bottom streams in certain areas of Mississippi are irresistible to ATV riders from about April through October," Scenic Streams Coordinator Andrew Whitehurst said.

And while the riders are getting their kicks, they are killing future generation of fish. Here's what's happening.

According to Whitehurst, fish and other aquatic organisms spawn on stream bottoms. They form nests and lay eggs in gravel and sand during spring and summer, coinciding with peak ATV riding. Some streams are invaded every weekend during the warm parts of the year.

"This much activity means that these streams can be stirred up for upward of 48 hours each week for as long as warm weather lasts," Whitehurst said.

"The insect larvae and plankton eaten by young flathead catfish and spotted bass — two of the most desirable fish in Mississippi streams — are ground up by the ATVs, then covered, and suffocated with suspended sediment."

The stream spawning beds of species such as madtoms, darters, and others also are affected.

Whitehurst and others with the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks' Museum of Natural Science have produced an educational poster to get people to rethink riding ATVs in creeks and streams.

The poster highlights trespassing, damage to stream ecology, and disturbances to the stream bed and its banks.

"Trespassing is the main problem for streamside landowners when ATV riders don't get permission before riding," Whitehurst explained.

"At last year's Wildlife Extravaganza, a survey by the museum revealed the support for criminalizing ATV riding in public waters was 84 percent among ATV owners and 100 percent among non-owners."

The 2002 session of the state Legislature amended Mississippi's public waterways law, prohibiting riding motorized vehicles in public waterways without the landowner's written permission. Violation of this law is a misdemeanor.

The amendment has been sent to the Governor for his signature.

The new stream poster lets people know that riding ATVs in our streams during the fish spawning season is hurting our fisheries resources.

In addition to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, statewide organizations sponsoring the poster include the Mississippi Sheriff's Association, Mississippi Wildlife Federation, Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, Mississippi Forestry Association, Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality, Mississippi Forestry Commission, Pearl River Basin Development District, and the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources.

Posters are available at the six district offices of the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries, and Parks and from poster sponsors.

Whitehurst is asking the sporting public to put up posters in places where they will be seen by outdoor people, outlets such as schools, courthouses, deer camps, and sporting goods stores.

"Let's make sure that riding ATVs is done properly," Whitehurst said. "And let's not destroy future generations of fish that anglers won't get to enjoy."

No emergencies

Acadian Ambulance Service hosted a tour of its corporate offices in Lafayette, LA, for representatives from the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Waveland Fire and Police Departments and Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo on Friday. The group got a first hand look at Acadian's operation and met with the management team. Acadian is expanding its service area and looking to serve more counties in Mississippi. Currently Acadian serves Jackson and Rankin counties. Two of Acadian's med planes flew the group to Lafayette.

River dredging needed to supply Stennis, Port Bienville

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Members of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission met with the Army Corp of Engineers this week to discuss badly-needed dredging at the Pearl River channel bridge and other county waterways used to bring supplies by barge to Stennis Space Center and Port Bienville Industrial Park.

In a closed session on Monday commissioners voted to declare the situation in the channels an emergency situation, with hopes of speeding up the dredging process.

So much silt has accumulated in some channels that it has reduced the depth to no more than four to six feet, commissioners said. The Intercoastal Canal maintains a depth of 12 feet. The narrow pass on that route through the draw bridge makes it difficult for barges to maneuver.

An alternate route through Little Lake channel, in Louisiana, is easier to maneuver, but efforts to dredge that channel, also wrought with silt problems, have been stalled for years by environmentalists.

In other business: Commissioners voted to approve $45,000 for engineering services for the refurbishment of Port Bienville Wharf Facility.

Commissioners discussed the possibility of obtaining 8.2 acres of land owned by International Paper, and adjoins the Port Bienville facility, by right of imminent domain. International would still receive payment for the property.

Commissioners tabled a resolution authorizing their attorney Robert Genin to issue a condemnation letter for a 1,400 acre parcel of land adjoining Stennis International Airport to the west. Commissioners tabled the matter in a closed session, where they also discussed possible litigation involved in the proposed purchase of the land.

Commissioners passed a resolution to proceed with the sale of 1.5 acres, a portion of Lot B, at Stennis International Airport for a sum of $60,000 to Farris Concrete Pumping, LLC, pending approval by the Board of Supervisors. The company is a concrete batching operation. The terms of the sales agreement: That the property could not be used for a concrete hauling operation. Ferris provides a pumping operation so the company will basically use the property for storage of the trucks, Commissioners said.

Business Manager Susan Veglia announced a Work Force Development Grant from Pearl River Community College. PRCC will be installing new computers in the training center at Port Bienville and provide training in the use of power point and other programs.

Teel found innocent felony charges

Had been accused of embezzlement

FROM THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Harrison County Chancery Judge Wes Teel has been found innocent of four felony and nine misdemeanor counts of embezzlement.

A Harrison County jury acquitted Teel on Thursday.

An indictment alleged Teel received about $3,700 worth of goods and services for his office and was reimbursed by the state but failed to pay vendors that included Office Depot and Advanced Business Systems.

The trial began Monday in Gulfport.

Defense attorney Joe Sam Owen argued Teel didn't have the money to pay vendors because of his wife's medical bills. Owen also said Teel was personally responsible for paying his debts, which contradicts prosecutors' claims that Teel stole money from the state of Mississippi.

Prosecutors contended that Teel had the money to pay his debts when the state sent him reimbursement checks.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. 'Scoop' Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

In Thursday's column I mentioned my crepe myrtles at home as being heavy with blooms this year.

Thursday evening of this week, a neighbor inquired if I had been feeding steroids to the crepe myrtles.

I told her no, just fertilizer and water.

Really though, I have never seen them with such heavy and large blooms.

Congratulations are in order for Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia, who was elected to his fourth term as president of the Mississippi Firefighters Association.

Garcia was re-elected at the association's 65th annual conference held in Jackson June 5-9.

In addition to being re-elected president, Garcia was voted unanimously as a lifetime member of The Chiefs Association. There are only 14 others from the state with such an honor.

Waveland's Fire Department has made great strides under Garcia's leadership as chief, and the fire ratings continue to drop, which is a savings to property owners on fire insurance. Congratulations, David. I know you will keep up the good work.

Bay St. Louis this year has the honor of hosting the Dixie Girls Softball Tournament which will take place July 19-26.

The bringing of this tournament is something which has taken lots of work and planning by local league officials, the city and many volunteers.

The games will be played at the Dixie Softball Complex (McDonald Field), corner of Dunbar and Ulman Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

Since 18 to 26 teams will be in town to compete for the championship, this will be lots of folks to our city.

Needless to say, we need to give a big welcome to the 1,500 to 2,500 visitors to our city during the week's tournament.

This type of event brings folks from throughout the state of Mississippi and in the long run means a boost to our economy.

We as business folks, as well as citizens, need to really show we care about our city's welfare and really show how the City of Bay St. Louis is really "A Place Apart."

As tournament time nears, we will be giving you more information.

While on the subject of girls softball, William Carey College of Hattiesburg will conduct a softball camp in conjunction with Bay St. Louis Dixie Girls Thursday and Friday, June 20 and 21.

Cost is $50 per child, and each girl will receive a camp T-shirt and refreshments.

If you need additional information, contact Pennie Brogle at 467-3192.

Mississippi rapidly advancing into outer space

Recently, I was very honored to join administrators, friends and students of Jackson State University (JSU) in dedicating a new science center on the JSU campus.

However, this is not just any science building. It is a facility specifically dedicated to research and teaching of high-tech space-related technologies which are creating jobs in our state.

This is indicative of the new Mississippi which many people are visualizing - a state which is home to a variety of medium and high-tech corridors, based around Mississippi's transportation system, especially interstates, and flanked by educational facilities to accompany those industries and sustain them.

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

For too many years Mississippi seemed satisfied to get economic scraps. We picked up an industry or two here and there, but there never seemed to be a concerted effort by Mississippi's educational and political leaders to link up and aggressively pursue the world's top job creators.

Today, following the successful recruitment of Nissan, Mississippians are beginning to realize we can compete with anyone, anywhere, anytime with the right attitude and a mix of infrastructure and educational assets.

With the help of Senator Cochran, Rep. Chip Pickering and Rep. Roger Wicker, federal research funding coming to Mississippi's universities has doubled.

This is good for our students and our employers who seek well-trained students for their workforce. It's a joint effort and commitment which Mississippi's universities - along with government and private sector leaders - can use to transform our state into an economic powerhouse.

As I traveled throughout Mississippi last week, I saw this new attitude. For instance, at the Forest, Mississippi Rotary Club, folks from throughout Scott County seemed excited about a new plant locating there which will supply the Nissan facility, soon to begin production in Canton.

It is no accident that near the Nissan plant will be a brand new MSU facility dedicated to the teaching of Q May annual rentals received from leasing of 16th Section Public School Trust Lands, where the rights conveyed are a utility lease, be placed in the proper fund for immediate expenditure upon order of the school board or must all funds received from instruments conveying rights-of-way and easements be placed in the principal fund?

A One-time payments for a permanent easement would be paid into the principal fund but annual payments would not be required to be kept in such fund. (Attorney General's opinion to McWhorter dated December 21, 2001).

Q Are practice teachers covered by the Mississippi Tort Claims Act, or in the alternative, are they covered by the blanket liability coverage carried by the local school districts in which they are working?

A A student teacher is covered under the Mississippi Tort Claims Act pursuant to Section 1146-1, et seq., of the Mississippi Code; since a teacher is a covered employee under the Act and pursuant to Section 37-132-5, a "student teacher" receives the same protection of the laws. (Attorney General's opinion to Chaney dated December 3, 2001)

Q How must county school districts select a depository for the placement of school allotments or funds?

A School depositories are selected by the school board in the same manner as provided in Section 27-105-305 for county depositories. However, the annual notice may be given by the school board at any regular meeting subsequent to the board's regular December meeting but prior to the regular May meeting.

Bids may be received, at some subsequent meeting, but no later than the regular June meeting; and the selection by the school board of the depository shall be effective on July 1 of each year.

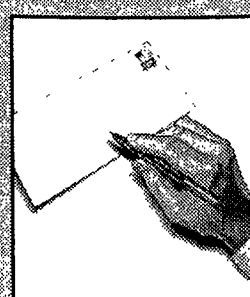

School boards shall advertise and accept bids for depositories no less than once every three years. (Section 37-7 333) required to be covered by a surety bond?

A Section 37-6-15 requires each school board member to be bonded in the amount of $50,000.

In addition each district official and employee who receipts and/or disburses school district funds must be bonded for $50,000. Section 37-9-27 requires superintendents to be bonded in the sum of $100,000.

Section 37-9-31 requires principals and attendance center principals to furnish bonds in the amount of $25,000. Section 37-39-21 requires purchasing agents to be bonded in the amount of $50,000.

Q May a circuit clerk collect a filing fee for a case which is remanded to file and later reinstated, is transferred from another court or received on a change of venue?

A A circuit clerk would not be entitled to collect a fee when a case is remanded to file and later reinstated or when a case is moved to federal court and later returned since the clerk would have already collected a fee for the original complaint.

The circuit clerk is entitled to collect a fee for a case that has been transferred from another court or received on a change of venue since the clerk would be performing a service for the first time in regard to that complaint. (Attorney General's opinion to Carpenter dated November 1, 1996) automotive technologies, not unlike JSU's effort in the space-related field.

In fact, the entire I-20 corridor from Vicksburg to the Meridian area has yet-to-be-realized potential for the auto making industry.

Though Mississippi lost the Hyundai auto plant to Alabama, local, state and federal officials, including my staff, have already journeyed to South Korea once more making presentations to Hyundai's suppliers.

However, we will not be satisfied simply with suppliers. Be assured Mississippi will compete again when the next automobile manufacturer begins looking to locate a final assembly plant with thousands of jobs.

As I visited the Coast corridor along I-10, I talked with local officials in Gulfport about making Mississippi's ports even more active in trade with Latin America.

The trade potential with Latin American countries is huge.

Their products can be shipped to Mississippi ports and transported easily from there. Likewise, American products bound for that area can be shipped from our state.

Another Mississippi asset is the Northeast Mississippi corridor. Folks in Lee, Union and Pontotoc counties — never the ones to sit by and let opportunity escape — are again at the forefront of economic development with a Nissan supplier already under their belt, and with their joint "supersite" — a piece of land that will soon be ready to go for any interested major industrial prospect.

Cities and counties are wise to understand that few of them can attract jobs alone. Multi-county, multicounty, regional development efforts like this are very advantageous.

Likewise, Senator Cochran, Rep. Roger Wicker and myself are working to designate Highway 78 as an Interstate, creating an I-78 corridor in North Mississippi.

Senator Cochran and I are working also to bring I-69, an entirely new interstate corridor, through the Mississippi Delta. I-69 will bring new economic life to this important region.

In the Pine Belt, communities situated along I-59, including Laurel and Hattiesburg, have begun to pitch this area as a high-tech corridor with assets like the Stennis Space Center, USM and its polymer programs and an electronics industry all perched alongside the interstate with strong transportation links to anywhere in the U.S.

Other communities around Mississippi are acting similarly.

Education, transportation and jobs — Mississippians know the three are inseparable. All three must remain linked if we are to fully realize a bright vision for better jobs and a better Mississippi.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attn: Press Office)

Murder -- suspect

about 9 p.m. at the downstairs steps of his 6044 6th Street residence in the Hancock County community of Bayou Phillips, which is lined with a bayou and canals off Highway 90.

Sheriff's investigators had worked day and night since Sunday seeking clues in the murder.

On Thursday afternoon, Hancock County Justice Court Judge Tommy Carver set Ali's bond at $1,000,000 cash or property. Arraignment is scheduled for June 25 in Hancock Justice Court.

With little to go on, investigators combed the rural area and questioned numerous residents, seeking leads on the murder. This included receiving assistance from two members of the Gulfport Police Department's Dive Team, Jamie Jenkins and Alan Agent, who scoured a canal behind Huffman's residence seeking the murder weapon.

Garber did not give a motive for the murder, but did say the investigation is not over, and there is a possibility of more arrests.

Authorities report a weapon believed to have been used in the murder has been found, but did not say where it was located.

Hancock Criminal Investigator Kenny Hurt, who is leading the investigation, did not divulge what led to the arrest of Ali, other than to say that the suspect and the victim had been casual acquaintances.

Hancock County Coroner Norma Stiglet said Huffman died of a gunshot wound to his face. The autopsy was performed by State Medical Examiner Dr. Paul McGarry.

"As units from the sheriff's office, Bayside Fire Rescue and American Medical Response arrived, they found Huffman dead at the scene," Garber said.

The murder suspect is being held in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility.

Assisting Hurt in the investigation are Hancock criminal investigators John Luther, André Fizer and Rita Blaize-Watson.

Huffman's survivors include a daughter, Jennifer Huffman of Mims, Fla.; his mother, Billie Jean Huffman of Oakwood, Ga.; two brothers, Ricky Huffman of Auburn, Ga., and Randy Huffman of Lawrenceville, Ga.; two sisters, Linda Wagner of Oakwood, Ga. and Donna Allen of Gainesville, Ga.; a companion, Leesa Nall of Bay St. Louis; and two grandchildren.

His funeral and burial services were held Thursday in Gainesville.

Odor -- Southern Regional

Services who has held the contract since 1985 for removal of liquid sludge from the plant, said the removal of solid sludge would require open trailers rather than the closed trucks used now. He also said he would have to obtain a permit for hauling solid waste.

Breaux said a test run on the new process resulted in sludge that had an "atrocious odor."

Engineer Duke Levy said that the odor was present because the crew had used sludge that had not had the time to go through the 30 day settling period usually required, just for the test. In the normal running of the plant, the sludge would be allowed to settle in digesters, reducing the odor.

The new sludge de-watering system is state of the art equipment used in many treatment plants today, Levy said.

United Industries and Harold Beard, the designer of the patented treatment process used at Southern Regional, performed capacity tests at the plant. Tests found that the old capacity of 1.5 million gallons per day in existing ditches built in 1993 had increased to about 2.85 mgd. due to the new, more efficient process. With the original plant capacity of 2.5 mgd that brings capacity to about 5.35 mgd under present guidelines, said Engineer Duke Levy.

When new EPA guidelines come into effect in a few years, the capacity in the original plant, built decades ago, could be decreased by half a million to a million gallons because the old system will be out of date. Hopefully, by then, the plant will be into the second phase of plant upgrades, Levy said.

Presently, the plant is treating three-to-three-and-a-half million gallons a day depending on the weather, Levy said.

The new headworks, which measures strength and amount of the flow into the plant, is up and running. The meters will be checked daily to determine a formula for computing new rates for the three entities.

Early tests on the amount of flow show on daily printouts that Bay St. Louis has a flow rate about twice that of Waveland. The county shows a flow rate of about 25 per cent more than Waveland. These figures will be computed with test figures that also measure strength of waste to determine costs to each entity.

The entire project should be finished in a matter of weeks, Levy said.

One odorizer is on line at the plant, which has reduced odor considerably and two more should be on line by next week reducing odors even more. Neighbors in nearby Espana Park had complained in previous weeks that odor from the plant was unacceptable. Neighbors also complained about noise from the plant. The noise, said plant administrator Sheryl Colson, is a result of damaged housing over blowers at the plant. The housing will be replaced, Colson said, and insulated with material to reduce the noise.

Gertrude Duthu came in to question the board about pipes laid on Duthu St. in Waveland, a private street she said she owns.

She said the plant had no right to lay the pipes on the street. After contractors laid the pipe they also put asphalt on the road. Duthu said she never gave anyone permission to do any of the work.

She asked for compensation.

The lines were laid as part of Phase 1 construction on the plant. Bruce Newton of Duke Levy and Associates, the engineering firm in charge of the project, said that the firm worked directly with the Waveland Public Works Department and Public Works Director Ray Eaton when planning the route of the off-site force main pipes for the plant. The pipes were to originally go down Gulfside but there was no room for more lines. "He approved the route," said Newton.

"Believe me, we do nothing in Waveland without consulting Ray Eaton," said Levy, the owner of the firm.

When contacted earlier, Eaton said he had nothing to do with the project.

Get on board at library for summer reading

Get on board at the Hancock County Library System this week and see a real CSX train engine. Themed Reading is a Picnic, next week's programs will feature a live gas demonstration by Tennessee Gas; a picnic at the Bay St. Louis Depot; and a visit from children's author and storyteller Coleen Salley.

The Pearlinton Public Library will host representatives with Tennessee Gas on Tuesday, June 18 at 10:30 a.m. They will discuss the importance of gas pipelines, pipe safety in the home, and will present a live gas demonstration.

A real CSX train engine will highlight the program at the Bay St. Louis Depot on Wednesday, June 19, at 10:30 a.m.

In conjunction with the City of Bay St. Louis, the program will also feature the Bay St. Louis Fire Department Fire Pup, Little Shane the robot, the Bay St. Louis Police dog, and a real American Medical Response ambulance.

Bay St. Louis Animal Control Officer Ron Fairley will be on hand to talk with children about pet safety, and Scoops E. Clown will make animal balloons for the children.

Children can even have a paper hat made by Bay Teacher Kathleen Jenkins. Parents are welcome to bring their own lawn chairs and a brown bag lunch.

Entertaining, educational, fun and funny all describe the marvelous Coleen Salley, who has just completed her first book, Epossumondas.

Salley will return in the fall to a book signing of this new book at Bookends Bookstore in Bay St. Louis.

USM expands online career courses

Courses on computer network security and computer-assisted drafting highlight the University of Southern Mississippi's current online career training offerings.

The self-paced, Internet-based classes are offered through the USM College of International and Continuing Education, in conjunction with Gatlin Education Services.

"These courses are designed for people who are looking to change careers, or who are looking for a meaningful career without committing to two or more years of college," said Kathy Bailey, marketing director for the USM Department of Continuing Education and Distributed Learning. "They like the way these courses are self-paced, which allows them to do the work on their own timetable."

Topping the list of courses offered by USM is a new security certification course, a comprehensive computer network and host security program that explores computer security weaknesses and solutions. Upon completion of the course, participants receive CompTIA's Security+ certification.

The 80-hour course may be started at any time, and the fee is $1,495.

Another new course being offered is AutoCAD 2002 2D Drafting. AutoCAD is the leading program for computer-aided design in the world, and the course will offer a step-by-step approach to mastering the system.

The 120-hour course will be available beginning in August, and the fee is $1,595.

Other online career courses offered by USM include:

- Medical transcriptionist, which provides students with a working knowledge of medical terminology and a proficiency in the transcription of medical reports. The 160-hour course can begin at any time, and the fee is $1,395.

- Administrative medical specialist, which provides the student with a working knowledge of medical billing and reimbursement, in addition to an introduction to the national diagnostic and procedural coding system. The 150-hour course can begin at any time, and the fee is $1,395.

- Advanced Coding for the Physician's Office, which is designed to increase the skills of front office personnel, those coding even the most extensive procedures. The 80-hour course can begin at any time, and the fee is $1,195.

- CISCO-CCNA certification training, which provides the student with the essential knowledge to install, configure and operate simple routed LANs and WANs. The 80-hour course can begin any time, and the fee is $1,995.

- Web master basic, which trains a student to plan, design, implement and produce Web sites. The 150-hour course can begin any time, and the fee is $1,595.

- Graphic design, which takes a student through the fundamentals of design, beyond pencil and pen to the computer and the Internet. The 80-hour course can start at any time, and the fee is $1,295.

- Travel agent, which prepares students for the Institute of Certified Travel Agents certification tests. The course can begin any time, and the fee is $1,395.

- Advanced records management, which gives students a basic overview of records management terminology, concepts and procedures. The 60-hour course can begin at any time, and the fee is $1,195.

Later this year, USM will begin offering online courses in bookkeeping and architectural desktop.

For more information on online career courses, contact the USM Department of Continuing Education and Distributed Learning at (601) 266-6984, or go to the website at www.cice.usm.edu/ce/training/.

Superkids at DeLisle Elementary accept the healthy lung challenge

Students at DeLisle Elementary are joining 40,000 students from across the state by accepting a challenge to remain tobacco free for life.

At a recent program, Matt McGahan, American Lung Association of Mississippi (ALAM) representative, challenged the students in grades K-5 to make healthy choices.

McGahan also challenged the students to support the mission of the Lung Association by participating in Superkids, a fun tobacco education and fund-raising program.

During the two weeks following this program, DeLisle Elementary students voluntarily collected over $2,058 to help the Lung Association fight lung disease in Mississippi.

All participating students received a Superkids certificate and ribbons. Students raising $20 or more were rewarded with incentive prizes. Raven Bradley, first grade, collected the most money overall and was recognized as the "Top Superkid."

"The students at

The American Lung Association of Mississippi (ALAM) recognized first grader Raven Bradley as Top Superkid at the recent anti-tobacco/Superkids field day sponsored by ALAM. Raven and other students collected more than $2,000 in support of the many programs and projects sponsored by ALAM that benefit those suffering from lung diseases in Mississippi. Pictured with Raven is Tina Williams, principal, who will be retiring this year.

DeLisle Elementary have worked very hard to help Mississippians with lung disease and to promote lung health," said McGahan.

"Their donations will go a long way to support Lung Association programs like Camp Wheelaway, a summer camp for children with asthma and our patient assistance program, research and education efforts."

To thank the students for their efforts, the Lung Association sponsored a Superkids field day May 10. Students participated in games, such as the big-foot relay, tug-o-war and potato sack races. Volunteers served as judges for the field day.

For information on Superkids or American Lung Association, call 1-800-586-4872 or visit www.lungusa.org/mississippi.

Waveland native graduates from Miss. School for Math & Science

Angela Ranelli was a recent graduate of Mississippi School for Mathematics & Science, Class of 2002.

Some 126 students were graduated in the school's 14th annual commencement ceremony May 25 in the Emma Ody Pohl Physical Education Building on the campus of the Mississippi University for Women in Columbus.

Former Governor William Winter was the keynote speaker.

Ranelli, daughter of Peter and Adrienne Ranelli of Waveland, formerly attended Our Lady Academy.

She plans to major in business at Virginia Polytechnical Institute and State University.

MSMS is a free, public residential high school for juniors and seniors. It was created by the legislature in 1987 to enhance Mississippi's future by providing innovative learning experiences for academically gifted and talented students.

challenges each student based on individual capabilities, background and academic interests.

MSU psychology department honors three student researchers

Hancock County native among students to receive first honors given by Mississippi State University psychology department

Mississippi State students from Hancock and Clay counties and Jackson, Tenn., are the first to receive research honors given by the university's psychology department.

Randy J. Brou of Bay St. Louis, Isaac S. Shields of West Point and Kevin R. Harris of Jackson, all majors in the department, recently were recognized by the 2002 Psychology Research Forum.

Established this year, the forum honors majors whose research hypotheses are most clearly supported by the findings of their investigations and whose research goals are most successfully accomplished.

As the top winners, each received a plaque and $100 gift certificate to the MSU Bookstore.

Brou, a doctoral student, examined the effects of disorientation on a human's ability to locate objects in a virtual environment.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brou, he earlier received bachelor's degree in psychology at MSU.

Shields, a senior and the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Shields, completed a study related to Stroop Effect, a cognitive phenomenon (first described in 1935 by Tennessee psychologist J.R. Stroop) that illustrates humans' ability to read words faster than they can name colors.

Harris, who graduated from MSU in May with a master's degree and begins study toward a doctorate in the fall, demonstrated how some individuals better comprehend directions for prescribed medications when receiving a "time of day" list for which the medicine is to be taken. He also holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Tennessee.

California health officials warn against eating Gulf Coast oysters

California health officials warned people with certain health conditions to avoid eating raw oysters harvested along the Gulf Coast.

The Department of Health Services said oysters harvested in Louisiana, Texas, Florida, Mississippi and Alabama may be contaminated with the bacteria Vibrio vulnificus, which can lead to severe illness and death.

Individuals with chronic liver disease are especially vulnerable to bacterial infection. Others at higher risk include those with cancer, AIDS or other conditions that weaken or compromise the immune system, DHS officials said.

The warning followed the death of a 45-year-old Los Angeles County man that has been linked to the consumption of raw oysters in May. Since 1983, 68 Vibrio vulnificus infections have been reported to state health officials, including 42 that resulted in death. DHS officials said last year there were nine cases that resulted in four deaths.

In cases where the source of contaminated oysters could be identified, the source was the Gulf Coast, health officials said.

The bacteria is killed by heat, and health officials recommend that oysters be thoroughly cooked to decrease the risk of infection. The infection can cause fever, chills and abdominal pain, generally within 24 hours of eating contaminated shellfish.

Survivors include his wife Bernadine; four sons, Kenneth Newman of Jacksonville, Fl., David Newman of Meraux, La., Michael Garrity of Slidell and Patrick Garrity of New Orleans; four daughters, Daryl Himel and Darlene Holtgreve, both of Bay St. Louis, Janet Davis of Pittsburg, Pa. and Chrisinte Cologne of Des Allemands; sister Beverly Weaver of St. Petersburg, Fl.; and 17 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at St. Charles Catholic Church. Picayune Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

RICHARD SECRIST SR.

Richard Secrist Sr., 74, of Picayune, died Tuesday, June 11, 2002, in New Orleans.

Mr. Secrist was a native of Elton, Va. and was a wholesaler. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II. Survivors include his wife, Mary Secrist of Picayune; sons Richard Secrist of Pearlinton and Paul Secrist of Picayune; daughters Debbie Price of Pearlinton, Carol Secrist of Slidell and Cathy LeClair of Denver, Colo.; a sister, Ozelle Carter of Waldorf, Md.; 15 grandchildren and a great-granddaughter.

Visitation was Friday evening at McDonald Funeral Home in Picayune. Funeral services were conducted Saturday in the funeral home chapel.

Former Bay High classmates celebrate 50-year reunion

THE SEA COAST ECHO

When Bay High School conducted commencement exercises earlier this month, the class of 2002 wasn't the only group celebrating - the new grads had some help from a somewhat more mature group.

Members of the Class of 1952 reunited on graduation night, including: Robert Perkins; Vesta Hartsfield Tankersley; Howard McCurdy; Chester Ladner; Herman Pollion; Mary Lou Scianna LaFontaine; Jannelle VanTrier McLain and Katherine "Chickie" Younger Knox.

It was the Class of '52's first opportunity to reunite since the 40-year reunion in 1992.

Artist deadline set for Collage Festival

The 9th annual Collage Arts Festival, which draws thousands each year, will be held from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Sept. 28-29 in the tree-shaded Memorial Park facing the Mississippi Sound near downtown Pass Christian.

Sponsors are the City of Pass Christian and the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce.

"Collage is seeking fresh, original artwork that the public will enjoy and purchase," according to Betsy Burgess, festival chairman, who added that the Gulf Coast boasts a variety of skilled artists who participate in the festival, but artists also travel to Collage from distant states.

Participating artists must pay a non-refundable registration fee of $50 payable in full by Aug. 1, or $65 thereafter, and fees must be accompanied by photographs or slides of the artists' work. Entries must be received by Aug. 15.

The two-day festival includes the sale of tempting foods, cooling beverages, a silent auction of donated works, and live music by local popular entertainer Bobby Allison.

For information, contact Betsy Burgess at (228) 452-

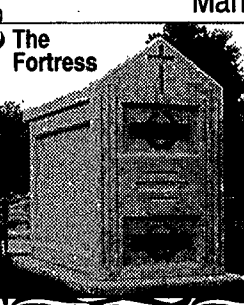

2100, or Wilma Rizzardi, 452-2252; Collage, P.O. Box 307, Pass Christian, MS 39571; e-mail pccoc@data-sync.net; www.passchristian.org/collage.

In Loving Memory of

Richard "Ricky" Ladner Jr.
 June 19th 2001

Our beloved son,
 By now you would be one.
 I wish I could hear you cry or see you smile.
 I'll never know why,
 God took you across the miles.

We love you so much and wish we had at least one touch.

You are always on our minds.
 You are always in our hearts.
 A better son we could not find,
 We are so sorry we had to part.
 We'll always love you and still we wonder why?
 God took you from us to his angels in the sky!

We love you and miss you.

Love,
 Mom, Dad, Sisters
 and Family

OLA students receive awards

Students of Our Lady Academy received academic and achievement awards as well as other special recognition at two ceremonies in May honoring seniors and underclassmen.

Alumnae Induction

Members of the 2002 graduating class of OLA were formally inducted into the Our Lady Academy Alumnae Association following the awards ceremony. Five mothers of the graduates, who were all OLA Alumnae, assisted in the ceremony: Elizabeth Hanson, Virginia Kenny, Mary Ladner, Elizabeth Miller, and Kim Romain.

AD VALOREM ADVERTISEMENT

The Hancock County School District will hold a public hearing on its proposed school district budget for fiscal year 2002-2003 on June 24, 2002 at 5:30 p.m. at the office of the Superintendent. At this meeting a proposed ad valorem tax effort increase shall be considered.

The Hancock County School District is now operating with a projected total budget revenue of $28,217,979.11. 33.69 % or $9,508,000.00 of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For the next fiscal year, the proposed budget has total projected revenue of $28,917,633.86. Of that amount, 34.84% or $10,075,000.00, is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

For the next fiscal year, the Hancock County School District plans to increase Ad valorem tax efforts by 0 mill (Current millage - 50.38).

This increase in ad valorem tax revenue means that you will pay more in Hancock County School District Ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property.

Any citizen of the Hancock County School District is invited to attend this public hearing on the proposed ad valorem tax increase, and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.

Public Notice

Beginning the week of June 24, 2002, the Hancock County Courthouse will commence construction on the long awaited improvements required by the Americans with Disabilities Act. These improvements will consist of the addition of a new elevator, located at the rear of the building, as well as improvements to existing bathrooms and new restrooms on each floor of the building. An accessible courtroom, boardroom, and new jury room will be provided along with the necessary ramps, hardware and fixtures necessary to meet the requirements of the Act. In addition, new heating/air-conditioning equipment and electrical and electrical service will be provided.

Additional work on the exterior of the building will provide designated handicapped parking as well as much needed additional public parking in site and at adjacent Gex and Cue Streets. Painting of the building exterior and landscaping are also included in the scope of work.

It is anticipated that the work will take six to eight months. During this period meetings of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors will take place at Coast Electric Power Association Conference Room, Main Street, Bay St. Louis (until further notice). Court proceedings will be relocated to the Hancock County Court Annex Building at 306 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis. The District Attorneys office will be temporarily relocated to the Hancock County Court Annex Building at 306 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, as well as the Tax Sale, which will be held August 26-30, 2002. The Third Floor Law Library will be temporarily closed. First floor offices including that of the Chancery Clerk, Circuit Clerk, and Board of Supervisors will remain open to the public for the duration of construction. It is anticipated that minor disruptions of service will occur and citizens having business at the courthouse should contact the appropriate office prior to visiting the building.

During construction public parking in and around the building will be limited and the buildings rear entrance will be closed to all but construction personnel. We appreciate your patience during this much needed renovation and look forward to serving you from a more user friendly facility once the work is complete.

OLA student named outstanding legislator

Fifty delegates and four legislative officials from Our Lady Academy attended the 25th session of the Mississippi Junior Youth Assembly in Jackson in May.

The OLA officials were: Erin Stechmann, Lt. Governor; Leanne LaFrance, Secretary of the Senate; Michelle Lady, Assistant House Messenger; and Candy Mixon, Assistant Sergeant of Arms.

Twenty-five OLA students in the legislating delegation were given outstanding recognition. The OLA delegation received more awards than any other school in attendance at the assembly.

Kay Pouriraji, freshman, received "The Most Outstanding Legislator Award," the award coveted by all attending delegates. Ten OLA students were named "Outstanding Representatives." They are: Reed Bourgeois, Bernadette DeRussy, Amy Gemelli, Christy Gleber, Margaret Hadden, Taylor Heath, Allie Phares, Kay Pouriraji, Tess Sison, and Leah Tucker.

Fourteen of the OLA delegates received the "Outstanding Senator" award. The recipients are: Kristen Abraham, Lindsey Bourne, Emily Hoff, Jordan Jones, Erin Kergosien, Laura Kergosien, Sarah Loiacano, Holland McCandless, Amanda Meyers, Toni Pittari, Megan Robinson, Kaylee Schmitt, Krystyna Szczechowski, and Ruth Tucker.

The Youth Governor Ian Taylor of Gulfport High signed eight Senate Bills into law, five of which were OLA Bills. The bills signed and the draftees are:

Senate Bill 8 - introduced by Kristen Abraham and Katherine Guichet;

Senate Bill 12 - introduced by Amy Lamb (Aubrey Hamm did not attend);

Senate Bill 11 - introduced by Margaret Hadden and Toni Pittari;

Senate Bill 7 - introduced by Kay Pouriraji and Jordan Jones; and Senate Bill 14 - introduced by Ashley Lady and Margot Dane.

Two of the twelve House Bills signed by the Youth Governor were OLA Bills:

House Bill 6 - introduced by Jennifer Asper and Lindsey Bourne and House bill 4 - introduced by Chelsea Bradford and Mary Li.

Safety experts: ATVs can be deadly for kids

All-terrain vehicle manufacturers recommend beginning drivers take a safety course before riding and discourages riders from driving after consuming alcohol or drugs.

Another problem occurs when youth ride vehicles

The ATV Safety Institute recommends young riders

"Most ATVs are not designed to handle safely on hard surface roads," Reed said. "Road riding tends to encourage more speed and severe accidents have occurred from overturns collisions with automobiles."

University of Southern Mississippi head football coach Jeff Bower admires the university's new athletic complex Thursday on the Southern Miss campus in Hattiesburg. Overlooking the north end zone of M.M. Roberts football stadium, the complex is expected to be ready for the upcoming 2002 football season. The first floor of the facility will be opened at the end of this month. The Golden Eagles will open the season at home Aug. 31 against Jackson State University. Hatten named head football coach

One of Pearl River Community College's own is coming back to lead the football program.

Timothy W. Hatten, a Sumrall native and two-year letterman at PRCC (1983-85), is the new head football coach at Pearl River Community College.

Hatten, 38, a 1987 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi, comes to Pearl River from Haines City High School in Haines City, Fla., where he was the head football coach for nine years. His overall record was 75-29.

"Being around home and back in the Hattiesburg area is a big deal for me and my family," said Hatten. "No other situation could be any more right for me than this situation. I met my wife (Cindy) there when she was a cheerleader. I am very excited about this opportunity. I am looking forward to the challenge."

Hatten replaces Coach Tucker Peavey, who resigned his position as head football coach earlier this month to accept the athletic director and head football coaching position at Brookhaven High School.

"We feel very fortunate in such a short period of time to be able to identify a high quality football coach to lead our program," said PRCC President William Lewis. "We feel really good about the fact that he is a Pearl River alumnus and that he has a history of stable employment in the coaching field."

Hatten spent 14 years at Haines City High, a 5A school with an enrollment of some 2,000 students.

From 1987-91, Hatten

Timothy W. Hatten, at a recent news conference.

was an assistant football and baseball coach at Haines City, while also teaching science.

From 1991-93, he was athletic director and assistant head football coach, while continuing to teach science. The 1991 Haines City team finished 11-3 and was state runner-up.

Since 1993, Hatten has been the head football coach, the golf coach and administrative assistant in charge of discipline. In 1997, he was selected as the Florida Athletics Coaches Association District 11 Coach of the Year. He received the same honor in 1999 after leading the team to a 12-2 record and the state semifinals.

Hatten's 2001 team finished with a 7-3 record, which included a 2-0 victory over nationally-ranked Lakeland High School in a game that was nationally-televised by the Florida Sunshine Network.

Lakeland had a 63-game winning streak at the time.

"Coaching in Florida was a worthwhile experience for me," said Hatten.

Hatten played his high school football for coaches Keith Waters and Ricky Graves at Sumrall High School. He walked on at Pearl River and earned a scholarship as a wide receiver. He played his first year for Coach J.C. Arban and his second year for Coach Mike Nelson. He later graduated from USM with a B.S. in Athletic Administration with an emphasis in Science Education.

Hatten visited the Poplarville campus earlier this week and met with the coaching staff.

"It was an eerie feeling when I came back, walking around the locker room and seeing the locker where I dressed and the room where I stayed," said Hatten. "This is a chance for me to make up for being gone for 14 years. Now I have the best job a coach could have in this area."

Hatten and his wife are the parents of two children, daughter Allison, 9, and son Eli, 3. His mom and dad, Mildred Ann and Robert Hatten, still reside in Sumrall.

Pearl River college baseball team participating in Cotten State League

Pearl River Community College's 2003 baseball squad has become the Poplarville River 'Cats for the summer months, as the Wildcats are participating in the Cotton State League.

Six teams comprise the CSL, including the Brookhaven Brakemen, the Clinton Lumberjacks, the Hub City Wheels (Hattiesburg), the Jackson Senators, the Pearl Pirates, and Poplarville.

The River 'Cats' home games are played in Wildcat Stadium on the PRCC campus in Poplarville, while Brookhaven plays its home games at Brookhaven Academy.

Mississippi College's Frierson Field is the home diamond for the Lumberjacks and the Senators, while Pearl's home field is at Belhaven College in Jackson. Hub City plays its home games at William Carey College in Hattiesburg.

A three-game championship playoff is set for July 18-20 between the champion of the first half of the season against the champ of the second half.

PRCC assistant head coach Jamie McMahon coaches the River 'Cats and is assisted by Wildcat assistant Tony Salim. Poplarville's team is comprised of returning Wildcat players, along with signees for the 2003 season.

Sewer -- suits

The suit, originally filed in April 2001, alleges fraud against the bonding companies, the insurance and bonding companies and Langlinais; breach of contract against the insurance and bonding companies; and the district; tortious interference with business relations against Burrows, Rodgers and the bonding and insurance companies; engineering negligence and interference against Duke Levy and Associates; and conspiracy against the insurance and bonding companies, Langlinais, Burrows and Rodgers.

The suit also seeks punitive damages in the sum of $20 million from various sources and the return of property held under a lien.

Panther was fired from the project by the district about three weeks before the completion of the project, said Panther owner Scott Favre. District director Eddie Renz said that Panther did not finish the job by the deadline date and the district decided not to continue the contract, once the original contract had expired. The bonding company finished the job with the district, which Renz said took several months to finish.

Favre said that one of the reasons the job was not finished on time was the poor design work performed by Levy. He said that he advised the board of this, but no one listened. "We told the board that it would take more time and more money to do it the way Levy designed it," said Favre. "The way the system is designed would require too much maintenance."

Renz said that the design was the same that the district was already using in other areas and the same that was being constructed in Bayside South, the other half of the project.

"That job was finished on time without any problem," Renz said. "The problem was not with the engineer, the problem was with the work ethics of the contractor. There were days when no one was working."

Levy agreed. "There were two identical projects at the same time, one contractor finished its job on time and the project was a success," said Levy. "The other project required Hancock County Water and Sewer to terminate Panther. Our goal is to protect the public interest and that goal was accomplished."

Another of Favre's allegations was that he was forced to buy a certain kind of pump, Meyers, from Gulfport Pump and Equipment. Favre alleges sole-source bidding. Panther had suggested an alternate pump, Barnes, Renz said, and the district did look into it, but said the performance of the Meyers pumps "blew the other pump out of the water."

"Gulf Coast Pump was the distributor for Meyers in the area," said Renz. "We had a proven history with Meyers for 12 years and it had a good track record."

Levy said the district already had about 1,000 Meyers pumps in the ground in other areas.

Now the district is also embroiled in a suit against Levy and has fired him as engineer on Phase 1 water. They allege that Levy did not properly instruct the contractors to do the job correctly. The system is still not on line.

Two representatives from Greenbriar of Brookhaven, MS., the company responsible for the construction of the problem water distribution system in the county, Phase 1 water, attended a workshop last week to discuss possible solutions. The company is willing to work with the county, they said, if they could be assured of receiving a final payment owed to them. The funds for the final payment are being held up by Rural Development as a result of an unfinished paper trail left behind when the district fired Duke Levy and Associates as consulting engineers for the project.

Rural development specialist Robert Windham said that agency is hesitant to release the final funds for Phase 1 water to the district because the engineer in charge of the project is no longer under contract. He suggested that the district make amends with Levy to get Phase 1 finished.

He also said that until new plans are filed for any other phases of the county's sewer and water district, assuring the agency that an engineer has been contracted to oversee the job, money for those phases could be held up as well. Levy had already signed on as the engineer for two future projects.

Greenbriar was working under the direction of Levy, who in turn was representing the district, general partner G. Dale Smith said, and because Levy gave his approval to the project, their legal obligation was fulfilled. The new consulting engineer Geoffrey Clemens of Compton Engineering, said he had a list of the problems with the system.

Commissioners said that their main objective was to see the system up and running, leak free, with clean water available to customers. Smith said the company is willing to work with the county to take care of leaks and get the system operational. Negotiations will continue over the next couple of weeks, with rural development, but the company will be at work during that time, Smith said.

On Monday members of the district's board, district director Eddie Renz, and representatives from Compton Engineering will meet with Rural Development to discuss possible solutions for the latest problems.

Farmers' markets reap many rewards

From the PACE FILES

BY LINDA BREAZEALE

Farmers' markets are finding their niche in community economies across the state as producers and customers develop mutually beneficial relationships.

"Farmers' markets have a place in communities who have an appreciation for fresh produce," said David Nagel, horticulture specialist with Mississippi State University's Extension Service. "Prices are similar to grocery stores, but the produce is fresher. Most of the produce is grown within a 25-mile radius of the market. Grocery produce may be from as far as 2,000 miles away."

Nagel said the appeal for Mississippi producers is the ability to supplement their income on a small area of land while making those close community ties that make Mississippi such a friendly state.

In the last couple of years, farmers' markets have developed in many Mississippi counties.

Diane Hill, executive director of the Southaven Chamber of Commerce, said the 2001 growing season was a successful year for that city's new farmers' market.

In 2000, the market was set up in a temporary location in a parking lot, but this year it benefited from a more permanent, open-air building.

"Obviously, people love the fresh produce, but even more than that, it gave people a sense of community," Hill said. "That kind of shopping atmosphere that encourages visiting appealed to people. The market also brought people into the community, both vendors and shoppers."

Joy Anderson, Extension horticulture agent in Desoto County, said the Southaven Chamber of Commerce was instrumental in the success of this market.

Booth rental, promotion, and supervision were among the Chamber's efforts.

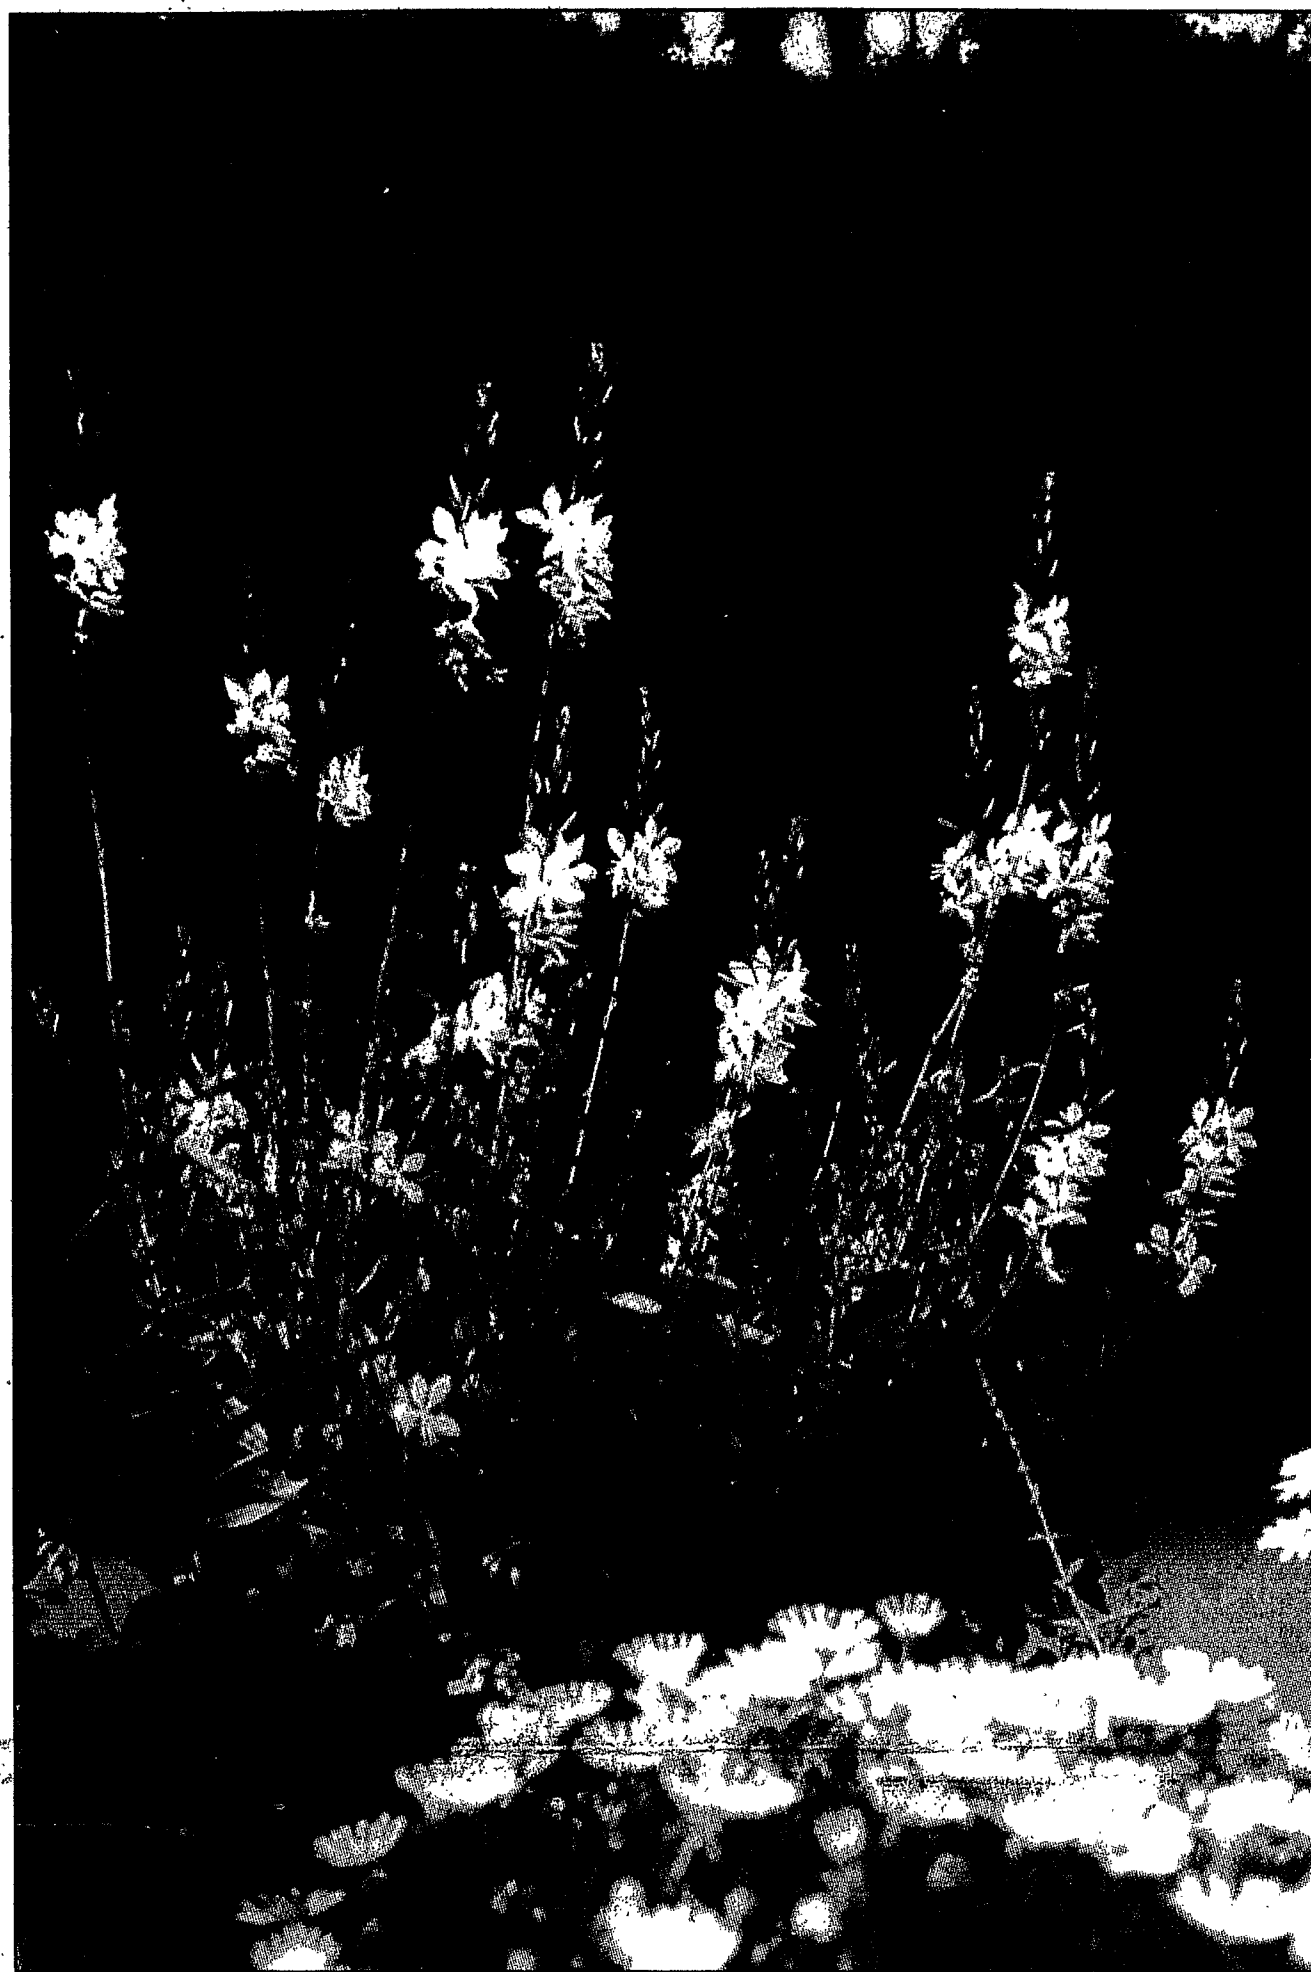

"Extension can provide advice on crop and business issues. We can encourage people to grow produce for the farmers' market, but the community needed someone like the Chamber of Commerce to make it happen," Anderson said.

Reba Bland, Lafayette County Extension home economist, said the 2001 market was the first in a couple of decades in Oxford. A supervisory board oversaw the market in general and developed guidelines to ensure that most of the produce was locally grown.

"The farmers' market was successful not just because growers made money, but because of the way it brought the community together," Bland said.

"Next year should be even better as we add a more permanent, open-air shed to protect us from the elements."

The tall, airy-looking flowers of the gaura give the appearance of butterflies floating above the other flowers in the garden or mixed container.

The Ballerina Rose gaura offers striking, colorful flowers on a more compact plant. Gaura is excellent for the new perennial garden and mixed containers.

A LONG, HOT SUMMER

Gaura ranks among the South's hottest plants

SOUTHERN GARDENING

It seems no new plant has captured the fancy of gardeners this year like the gaura. From Picayune to the Madison County garden tour and right on up to Oxford and Tupelo, everyone has been admiring the gaura.

Gaura is still a new plant to the majority of gardeners, but leaders of garden clubs and horticulture tours are catching on to the enthusiasm for this plant's unique floral display.

The gaura, whose uncommon, common-name is bee blossom, is in the family known as Onagraceae. This means that the gaura is related to the Evening-primrose and the Fuchsia. However, the look and texture of the gaura is not even close to these family members. The most cultivated species is Gaura lindheimeri, and it is native to Texas and Louisiana.

Gaura is hardy from zone 5 (a few states north of Mississippi) to the Gulf Coast and gives a unique texture in the garden. The butterfly-like flowers are white, pink or deep rose, and they are borne at the top of tall, airy spikes. They will reach 2 1/2 to 4 feet in height.

The gaura tolerates heat and humidity, then blooms through the fall if you deadhead old flower stalks, which also will reduce reseeding. Gaura is a perennial but won't really need dividing. You may want to save seeds to plant in the future. They will germinate in 14 to 21 days. You also can let the plants re-seed by themselves. Pluck the ones you do not want

Silver dimes, nickel cokes and a Canal streetcar transfer

"Could I have some silver dimes, please?" Then she told me she pushed the dollar bill to the bank teller, who just stared at her as if she had come in to rob the bank.

I was in the Old Books and Curiosities shop in the Bay looking for an old copy of Pickwick Papers. Stella and I had been to see the one-man show on Mr. Pickwick escapades at the Bay St. Louis theatre the week before and, intrigued that I had never read the old Dickens classic, I was looking for a used copy.

I suppose I could have borrowed a book from the library, but given my habit of reading four or five books at one time, dipping into one according to whether it was nearby or had caught my transient interest, starting and finishing the near 900-page Pickwick Papers might take several months.

Nancy, the store proprietor had several used editions of the Pickwick opus, and I picked out a paperback that, while yellow with age, had obviously never been opened.

Its cover price was ninety-eight cents and Nancy was asking four dollars. I gave her asking price, and since the both of us understand that the purchase included conversation, I sat down on a comfortable chair near her and opened the book.

Looking over my purchase, I noticed that it had been published in 1958. The last five years of the '50's were interesting to me. I had lived in New Orleans during that time, and I started my end of the conversation by remembrances of working on St. Charles Street and on Fridays running to Woolworth's next to Maison Blanche to get a lunch of two crab cakes for a quarter each and drinking them with a nickel coke.

During the week, I would ride the bus to work and getting off at Canal, board a crowded Canal Street streetcar to go the short distance to St. Charles. The bus ride was seven cents, and the streetcar transfer was free.

On the few days it was nice I walked, but normally it was too hot and I rode the Canal streetcar. The

Bay, Kiln students selected for New York auditions

Mignon May

Mignon May, 13, of Bay St. Louis and Roger Lacoste, 13, of Kiln, have been selected for auditions in New York during summer vacation.

Both model/actors were selected while attending the MB Expo in Dallas, Texas.

Mignon and Roger will be under the management of Suzanne Schachter, owner of Suzelles', a leading New York agency where they will be referred for auditions for TV commercials, catalog, stage and movies.

This is Roger's third summer in New York where he was selected to appear in numerous catalog pages. He has continued his love for acting by participating in Gulfport Little Theater productions and attending advance acting workshops at Color Campus.

Mignon initially spent several weeks in New York in July, 2001 and plans to spend the entire summer auditioning. Mignon, the beautiful red head, has been a Color Campus modeling and acting students where she excelled in acting and modeling.

Color Campus, 19 years in Biloxi, is currently auditioning actor and models for the October/November 2002 MB Expo where they will be auditioned in acting, modeling, sit-com, soap, singing and dancing.

Appointment may be made by calling Rosemary Saunders, 228-388-2465.

Chris France selected for MS Governor's School

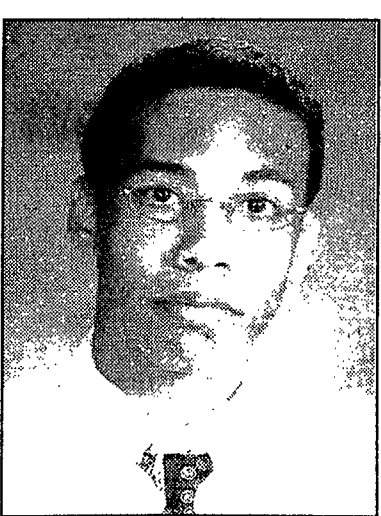

Chris France has been selected to participate in the 2002 session (June 9 - June 28) of the Mississippi Governor's School.

The Governor's School is a residential honors program established in 1981 by Governor William F. Winter at Mississippi University for Women.

The Governor's School is designed to provide academic, creative, and leadership experiences for a limited number of rising high school juniors and seniors who have demonstrated exceptional ability and achievement in their studies and who show high intellectual, creative, and leadership potential.

France is the son of Cecil and Cynthia Russell and grandson of Hunter and Gail France of Waveland.

He has just completed

Chris France

the 10th grade at St. Stanislaus High School where he earned Honor Roll status and received the Character Award.

He is the president of the SSC Key Club, member of the Quiz Bowl team and the Student Ministry. He plans to pursue a law degree.

LSU School of Veterinary Medicine graduates Bay student

The Louisiana State University School of Veterinary Medicine conferred 78 doctor of veterinary medicine degrees at its 26th annual Veterinary Medicine commencement exercises May 20.

Dr. Steven L. Marks, former LSU faculty member, gave the commencement address at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

Executive Vice Chancellor and Provost Daniel M. Fogel presided over the ceremony, and LSU Board of Supervisors member Perry Segura conferred the degrees.

Also present were LSU Alumni Association Vice President Clifford Vannoy, SVM Alumni Association President Dr. Pamela Mitchell, and Louisiana Veterinary Medical Association President Dr. L. Mike Cummings.

Dr. Amy Grooters, assistant professor of veterinary medicine, served as the mace bearer, and student Andrew Lee McGraw gave the invocation.

Among the graduates was Richard Durabb Dinon of Bay St. Louis.

After the degrees were conferred, the graduates recited the Veterinarian's Oath, adopted by the American Veterinary Medical Association in 1969.

Dr. Kevin Lynn Dickey closed the ceremony with the benediction.

All are invited to attend the Gulf Coast Writers Association monthly meeting June 27 at 7 p.m. at Barnes and Noble in Gulfport.

The program will be the importance of a "hook line," and everyone may bring a sample of their best opening sentences to read.

As many as five entries will be read by a designated reader for the hook line contest. The top three entries will receive prizes.

Contact Victoria Olson at www.gcwriters.org or <http://www.gcwriters.org> for more information.

Bay schools receive power company grants

The Mississippi Power Education Foundation recently approved five grants totaling nearly $15,000 to educational institutions along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Gulf Coast Education Initiative Consortium, located at USM Gulf Coast, received a $1,680 grant to aid in "Partners for Professional Development."

This project is a one-day in-service program for area educators and business people.

The goal of this program is to illustrate the benefits of a partnership between educators and economic leaders to help provide quality professional development with an end result of a more qualified work force.

Harper McCaughan Elementary School in Long Beach received a $2,000 grant to begin a project called "Tiny Town, Where Big Things Are Happening."

The purpose of Tiny Town is to connect high academic standards for students learning to future career roles. The project consists of a series of integrated learning experiences and involves partnerships with local businesses, guest speakers and classroom learning through dramatizations of day-to-day workplace events which take place in a pretend bank, post office, pizza restaurant, plant nursery, police station and hardware store.

Second Street Elementary School and North Bay Elementary School in Bay St. Louis each received a $1,000 grant to start a program entitled "BESTT."

Business Educating Students for Today and Tomorrow unites civic-minded businesses, parents, educators and students in a unique community involvement opportunity.

This project will allow teachers to incorporate the state learning standards into a permanent learning center where students can establish a savings account, cook and shop.

The Gulfport School District received a $9,000 grant toward the training of new teachers. The "Teacher Induction Project" includes classroom management techniques, organizational skills and methods of assessment and time management.

Time will also be spent with new teachers in the areas of literacy training, conducting parent/teacher conferences, working with special needs students and overall school district orientation.

After the initial two-day training, these activities will be conducted at the individual schools on a bi-weekly basis. Mentors will also be participants in this project.

Since 1984, through its foundations, Mississippi Power Company has supported excellence in education in southeast Mississippi.

During the past 18 years, the foundations have awarded more than $2.5 million in grants to teachers, schools, school systems and educational projects.

Views -- dimes

cars were usually so crowded that you had to push your way in the back door and hang on while the door closed.

The car would move a block and then stop and you would have to get out to let the people off and board again. It was useless to try to give your transfer to the conductor who sometimes rode in the back, and I never tried.

"Yeah, cokes were a nickel and still in bottles, and a phone call was a nickel, too. What about dimes? Do you remember 'silver dimes'?" Nancy asked.

"I do. In fact, I sometimes still say silver dime. Once when I went out with the company geologist to check one of the company's oil wells near Houma, we drove off the highway a ways on a corduroy timber road. Finally we came to clearing with a cattle gate that had a small boy sitting on it. When we drove up, he jumped down and opened the gate to let us through.

"When we got past, Duke waved the boy to the car and asked him if he'd be sure to be there when we came back two hours later. The boy looked at the coin Duke had slipped into his hand, smile with a great big grin and said 'Yes, Sir! I'll be here!'

"I asked Duke later what he had given him and he said, 'A silver dime.'"

Nancy then started in on her story, "Well, I worked with a woman once who had a New Orleans accent that was unbelievable. She told me she had lived all her life in New Orleans and that the one time she left it was to go to California.

Here she was, a person who thought Westwego was the end of the earth flying into sunset. The next day the friend she was staying with took her to downtown LA to shop and when they parked in front of a meter found she had no coins.

"My friend saw there was a bank there and went inside and going up to the teller and said, 'Could I have some silver dimes, please?' When she pushed the dollar bill to the bank teller, the teller just stared at her as if she had come in to rob the bank.

"We don't carry silver dimes."

"My friend stared at her and wondered if she was making fun of her. 'Of course you have silver dimes. This is a bank isn't it?' When the women kept looking at her with that strange look, she became impatient, 'Please hurry, I have a friend waiting in a car outside.'

"All of a sudden, she realized one of the loan officers was standing beside her, and the teller was telling him that this woman was insisting on getting silver dimes. By now everyone around them was looking and listening to their conversation.

"I'm sorry ma'am, the loan officer said. 'We haven't carried silver dimes for a number of years now.'

"My friend became so flustered that she said the first thing that came into her head, 'Well, Darling. How do you all park your cars?'

"With that she flounced out, and once outside found that her friend had found a 'silver' dime in her purse to put in the meter. She told me that she left LA a few days later and has never been back." I smiled, and saying good-bye, took the paper-bound copy of Mr. Pickwick's memoirs home with me satisfied that I had made a good buy.

Commission for Volunteer Service announces AmeriCorps funds

The Mississippi Commission for Volunteer Service (MCVS), the Mississippi Department of Education (MDE), and the Mississippi Office of the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) will hold a public forum from 10 a.m. to noon on June 20 in Hattiesburg to announce the availability of federal funds to support new Mississippi AmeriCorps programs.

The forum will be at the Jackie Dole Sherrill Community Center, 200 West Front Street, Hattiesburg. Educational institutions, governmental agencies (local, county, and state), and nonprofit organizations with 501 status are eligible to apply for AmeriCorps funding.

AmeriCorps is a national service program - similar to a domestic Peace Corps - that involves individuals in "getting things done" in their communities.

AmeriCorps engages thousands of Americans to address local environmental, educational, public safety, or other human needs and fosters civic responsibility in those who serve.

Mississippi's AmeriCorps members devote themselves to improving the lives of people in their communities by tutoring, assisting individuals with physical or developmental disabilities, providing after-school programs for youths, reducing illiteracy rates, bridging the digital divide, and building and renovating affordable housing.

In exchange for a year of service, members receive a modest living allowance of $9,600 per year, health care benefits, and extensive training.

Upon successful completion of the year of service, members receive an education award in the amount of $4,725 to further their higher education or to repay qualified past college loans.

Additional forums will be held in Meridian (July 9), Tupelo (July 24), Clarksdale (July 25), and Summit (August 1).

To register for any of the forums or to receive more information on national service and program eligibility, call MCVS at 601-432-6779 or visit the Mississippi Commission for Volunteer Service's website at www.MCVS.org.

Gardening

and transplant the others.

You can root gaura softwood to semi-hardwood cuttings in spring in a well-drained potting mix. A rooting hormone will help increase your percentages.

The gaura forms a long taproot and is very drought tolerant. It performs best in well-drained soil with full sun. You will be happy to know that this is one plant that does not need large quantities of organic matter or frequent applications of fertilizer to put on a good performance.

While they are not the showiest flowers in the garden, they still are ideal companion plants in the perennial border or for a cottage look.

The leading varieties are White gaura, Siskiyou Pink, Swirling Butterflies (dwarf), Sunny Butterflies, Crimson Butterflies, Blushing Butterflies and Corries' Gold (variegated foliage). Shop for these now, but next year look for Walberton Pink, Walberton White, Pink Fountain, Perky Pink, Ballerina Blush and Ballerina Rose.

At the recent California Pack Trials, the Ballerinas, Perky Pink and Pink Fountain were impressive and garden enhancing. The fact that these new varieties are coming out is a testimony to the toughness of the plant, their beauty and the acceptance by gardeners everywhere.

The landscape uses are limited only by your imagination. I have seen beautiful plantings among rocks, and striking companion plantings with blue salvias and coleus like this year's Mississippi Medallion award-winning Mississippi Summer. They also are excellent as the center plant in large, mixed containers.

Try gaura this year. You will not only get hooked, but you will find yourself at the top of the curve with new flowers.

Olivier earns doctor of medicine degree

Charles and Ruth Olivier of Diamondhead announce that their youngest son, Andre, has been awarded a degree as doctor of medicine from Ross University, located on the Island of Dominica in the Lesser Antilles.

His studies included rotations in hospitals of Maryland, New York City, Cape Cod, Miami, Shreveport and New Orleans.

Doctor Olivier and his wife, the former Jeani Murphy of New Orleans, will be residing in Baton Rouge while he works on his

Dr. Andre C. Olivier internship at Earl K. Long Hospital.

Ray Charles in concert at Casino Magic

Ray Charles will bring his own brand of musical genius to Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on Thursday, June 20 at 9 p.m. Tickets are $29.95, $34.95, and $39.95 and can be purchased at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5, or at any Ticketmaster location.

Ray Charles has the distinction of being both a national treasure and an international phenomenon. His name is on a Star on Hollywood Boulevard's Walk of Fame, his bronze bust is enshrined in the Playboy Hall of Fame, there is the bronze medallion cast and presented to him by the French Republic on behalf of its people, and he is in the halls of fame for rhythm and blues, jazz, and rock and roll. He has also earned 12 Grammy awards.

Ray Charles, single driving force, music, catapulted a poor, black, blind, orphaned teenager from extreme poverty to where he is today.

"I was born with music inside me. That's the only explanation I know of," he said. "Music was one of my parts, like my blood. It was a force already with me when I arrived on the scene. It was a necessity for me - like food or water."

Ray Charles Robinson was not born blind, only poor. The first child of Aretha and Baily Robinson was born in Albany, Ga., on September 23, 1930.

He hit the road early, at about three months, when the Robinsons moved across the border to Greenville, Fla. It was the height of the Depression years.

At the age of 7, Charles went blind and was accepted at St. Augustine's school for the deaf and blind where he developed his gift of music.

He learned to compose and arrange music in his head and telling out the parts, one by one. He remained at St. Augustine's until his mother's death when he set out "on the road" for the first time as a struggling professional musician.

By the early 1960's Ray Charles, who shortened his name in deference to the success of "Sugar" Ray Robinson, had accomplished his dream. He'd come of age musically.

He had become a great musician, posting musical milestones along his route. He'd made it to Carnegie Hall. The hit records "Georgia," and "Born to Lose" successively kept climbing to the top of the charts.

He had taken virtually every form of popular music and broken through its boundaries with such awe-inspiring achievements as the albums "Genius Plus Soul Equals Jazz" and

"Modern Sounds in Country & Western."

His music is still marked by the unpredictability that is the genius of consummate artistry. He is the master of his soul, musically and personally.

To this day he selects and produces his own recording material with utter disregard for trends. In the past decade he has taken on George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oh What a Beautiful Morning" and "America the Beautiful," all with resounding, if unexpected, success.

It all comes back to music, so inseparable from Ray Charles. He keeps rolling along, doing what he does uniquely and wonderfully well.

Ray Charles is a national treasure and a global phenomenon for this reason: he is music; he is himself; he is a master of his soul.

Facts About The BIBLE

MAKING THE DEVIL TREMBLE!

THE BIBLE HAS BEEN ACCLAIMED THE WORLD'S BEST SELLER! NATURALLY MORE THAN JUST ITS MAGNIFICENT CONTENTS HAVE MADE IT SO. OVER THE YEARS, MANY "GIMMICKS" HAVE BEEN USED BY PUBLISHERS AND HIGH-PRESSURE SALESMEN TO FURTHER THE SALES OF THIS GREAT BOOK, SUCH AS THE FOLLOWING: IN 1908 A LONDON EDITOR WAS AMUSED BY A NEW YORK WIRE DISPATCH AND PRINTED IT! THE QUOTE (NON-VERBATIM) FROM THE LONDON NEWS:

WE APPLAUD THE BOOKSTORE'S INGENUITY!
WE WISH WE KNEW THE LOW PRICE!
AND HOW MANY BIBLES WERE SOLD!
AND HOW MISERABLY SATAN SHOOK!

REFLECTIONS
ON LIFEBy Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVDAre you uptight, anxious, pained?

Do some physical, mental, emotional and/or social circumstances stress you out to the point of fearing and avoiding them, of leading you to a state of anxiety or apprehension, of plunging you into a deep, prolonged sadness, depression or paralyzing, helpless funk?

If you suffer from any or all of this deadly chain of stress, fear, anxiety and depression, you are either living in a state of anxiety or you are ripe for falling into such a state for prolonged periods of time.

Angst dominated a feature story of Time magazine a handful of years ago. Well, things have come full circle. Lo and behold, the June 10 issue of Time has come to the well again, featuring the misery of Anxiety on the cover. Angst, of course, is just the German word and medical term for anxiety.

So, why the great preoccupation with anxiety? Because it is the principal by-product of our health's Public Enemy Number One: negative stress. Take note, I did not say mental health, for negative stress does not discriminate between physical, mental, emotional, social and spiritual health.

Yes, negative stress is an equal opportunity crippler and destroyer. While not synonymous, anxiety and negative stress are so closely related, so tied together at the hip that you will not suffer the affliction of one without the other. And they are to be found everywhere, anytime and among all peoples.

The oldest folks are just as likely to be victims of these twin terrors as are the progressively aged, the middle-aged, young adults, adolescents, and even small children. These equal-opportunity afflictions haunt some 19 million Americans of every status, profession, condition, locale, creed and ideology.

Perhaps the most interesting aspect of Angst is that it is best understood by virtually the same generic description as alcoholism or any addiction. We know we are living in a condition of anxiety if it interferes substantially with our peace of mind, our daily chores, activities and obligations.

In a column several weeks ago, we explored the heavy affliction of depression, especially in the very young. This and its Siamese Triplets, fear and anxiety grow out of the wretched, nerve-racking roots of negative stress, the Public Enemy Number One of our overall health.

While there are things in life which we should fear in order to avoid them, defend ourselves against them and blunt their threat, most of us tend to be taken up and consumed by a variety of needless and pointless fears.

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself," we were advised by Franklin Delano Roosevelt during World War II. However, Jesus had said the same thing in several different ways over 1900 years ahead of him.

"Do not worry about tomorrow. Tomorrow will take care of itself."

Sufficient for the day is its own evil" (Matthew 6:34). This original formula of Jesus has spawned a plethora of variations.

"One day at a time," "One step at a time," "One hour at a time," "Worry is the interest paid on trouble before it is due," "Today is the tomorrow you worried about yesterday," and "Yesterday is a canceled check. Tomorrow is a promissory note. Today is ready cash."

Of course, at the bottom of trying continuously to reach tomorrow right now is the urge to escape the gnawing pains, fears and anxieties of today. Trauma from physical, sexual or psychological abuse in childhood, adolescence, adulthood, even old age, leads the way to these afflictions.

Trailing close behind in misery are the highly repulsive, nerve-grinding wife/husband, parent/child, family or workplace encounters which happen with grinding frequency or, worse, constitute a continuous state of living.

Truth to tell, this state of misery drives many to contemplate suicide.

The gnawing, unrelenting worm of guilt intertwined with the lethal poison of an unforgiving heart are the heaviest and deadliest cause of negative stress, fear, anxiety and depression. Trouble seems to follow us everywhere.

Jesus calls us insistently, gently, yet powerfully: "Let not your hearts be troubled. You have faith in God. Have faith also in me. In my Father's house there are many mansions" (John 14:1).

"Come to me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will refresh you. Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am meek and humble of heart. And you shall find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light" (Matthew 11:28-30). Pedophiles, abusers, victims welcome!

It is altogether curious and intriguing that no great numbers of addicts are able to get on the road to lasting recovery except through their total submission to a "Higher Power." And so it is with all of us, recovering addicts or not. Except for cases of chemical imbalance, Jesus is the answer.

The "Word" for the Week
Sex, love and marriage

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

In our day, power struggles seem inevitable within marriage. Husbands put the thumbscrews on their wives. Wives try to manipulate their husbands.

Mutual respect and love vanish in jealous competition for power. This ugly manipulative spirit pervades our age. It asserts itself most fully on what was intended to be the most beautiful expression of love ever conceived, the marriage bed.

The marriage bed, however, should be the place of greatest mutuality between husband and wife.

Look at what the Bible says about it. "Let the husband fulfill his duty to his wife, and likewise the wife to her husband. The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband does; and likewise the husband does not have authority over his own body, but the wife does" (1 Corinthians 7:3-4).

Within marriage there is a duty to engage in sexual relations. Outside of marriage there is a duty to abstain from sexual relations.

This is a place where practice beforehand does not help. Those who live together before marriage have a higher divorce rate than those who do not.

Such people generally think their bodies are their property and they can do with them as they please. Marriage partners who lovingly give themselves to each other know they belong to their spouse. The divisive desire for control is replaced by selfless love.

Judy and Loren Coghlan owners of Edgewater Furniture located in the Edgewater Village Shopping Center in Biloxi.

Recently-opened Edgewater Furniture in Biloxi's Edgewater Village is a friendly, locally-owned and operated business, offering quality home furnishings, bedding and accessories at a good value.

"We offer distinctive furnishings at discount prices, while providing custom decorating services to our customers at no additional charge," says owner Judy Coghlan. "We get new items in the store every week."

After attending Delgado College in New Orleans, Judy began working as a designer at Ethan Allen, where she spent 10 years, and went through the firm's educational and training program. One of her career high points was being asked to design the Golden residence in New Orleans for the PBS TV series "This Old House" along with two collaborators. "It was a wonderful experience working with co-hosts Steve and Norm," Judy recounts.

Husband and co-owner Loren Coghlan has a sales background. He began working part-time through college in the warehouse of Levitz, a leading national furniture company, eventually moving up the ranks into management. "We both have furniture backgrounds," says Loren. "We share a passion for it and love being able to work together."

Edgewater Furniture boasts a strong sales staff, as well, including some top performers. Karen Forsman is a talented artist/design consultant and sales associate Dennis McCuiston was a $1 million seller in his previous position. Danielle Deschenes and James Wildhaber round out the talented sales staff.

Last, but certainly not forgotten, is the company mascot "Sparky the Dolphin" who occasionally makes personal appearances. "He's part of our marketing strategy," notes Judy. "He recently gave out suckers at Edgewater Mall. Kids of all ages loved him!"

Edgewater Furniture is open Monday through Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday, noon to 6 p.m.

FOR 2002!

A FIRST-EVER DIE-CAST REPLICA CELEBRATES INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER'S CENTENNIAL YEAR

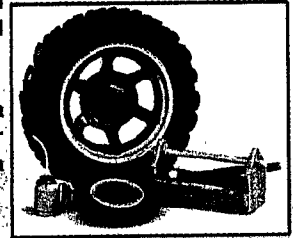

Farm Friendships...Built to Endure.

Hand-crafted in 1:25 scale by Ertl®, #1 in die-cast farm collectibles for over 50 years - this quality replica is fully detailed with authentic logos and features a chrome-finished grille, engraved headlights, rubber tires, operable doors and more. Drop the tailgate and a cargo of service equipment is ready to unload - hand crafted mechanic's tool box and oil can, plus two Farmall "H" tractor replacement tires and rims.

Officially licensed by the Case Corporation with a Certificate of Authenticity and informative full color collectible booklet, this Hamilton Authenticated replica celebrates a century old tradition of farm town friendships.

Farmall, McCormick, IH and International Harvester are Trademarks of CASE CORPORATION.

The International Harvester companies have been known for quality, dependability and honest value for nearly 100 years. Through the seasons and across generations, the International Harvester name has been a friend to America's farmers. It's no wonder that the name has become an American icon - an enduring symbol of timeless small town tradition. Now, a new die-cast replica honors International Harvester companies' proud traditions and celebrates the 100th anniversary of International Harvester.
